Trisus Healthcare Intelligence®

Enterprise-level decision support for the strategic management of your organization

As care and reimbursement models change, revenue cycle management is no longer enough to compete effectively on quality and cost. Financial executives need strategic, activity-based costing capabilities at their finger tips.

We Help You Meet Your Goals

Healthcare providers rely on Trisus Healthcare Intelligence to help:

Cost Reduction

Growth Initiatives

Service Line Management

Value-Based Care
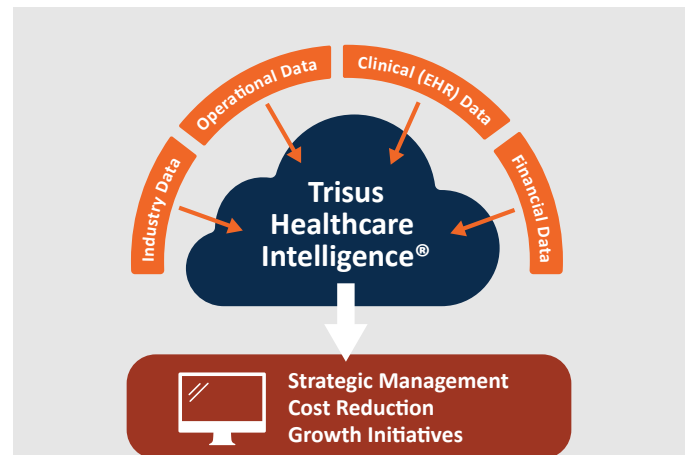

Variations in Care

Labor Productivity

Trisus Healthcare Intelligence provides the immediate and ongoing identification of the incremental cost of care by line of business or a subset of the business, such as patient, physician, continuum of care, or facility. You can identify your true costs as well as variations in patient care, physician activities, billing, and margins.

Better Data, Better Decisions

To understand the cost variations and the true cost of care requires the granularity only available with activity-based costing. Trisus Healthcare Intelligence utilzes an activity-based approach along with powerful analytics, geo-mapping and interactive visualizations to enable a highly strategic approach to pricing, financial management, process improvement, resource allocation and growth initiatives. From day one, your critical decisions will be based on the most accurate data available.

No time, no problem

Our customer success team will meet with you regularly to highlight relevant insights and prioritize opportunities. If you need help implementing changes, we can do that too.

The first iteration of Healthcare Intelligence was developed over twenty years ago to manage the costs associated with transplant patients. Due to the high complexity of these life-saving surgeries, a dedicated system that aligned the elemental cost of care proved beneficial at both the patient and program level. It was later adapted to manage costs and margin across the entire hospital. Once commercialized, the architect came to The Craneware Group to develop the next generation solution, Trisus Healthcare Intelligence.

20 YEARS

& counting

Secure, flexible, and upgradeable

With Trisus Healthcare Intelligence you get the benefits of a flexible, comprehensive solution that is secure and supported around the clock. Cloud-based, it can be deployed at one location or system-wide, and upgraded remotely. Our team of experts provide turnkey implementation using all available data sources and provide on-going training and support to ensure you realize the full power of Trisus.

Designed for your skill level

Powerful and easy-to-use, Trisus Healthcare Intelligence is built for novices and experts alike. Instead of numerous modules, it is one platform with one interface. Shortcuts help you to quickly complete specific tasks while allowing for access to more in- depth analysis in seconds.
